COMMUNICATION

---

I am not afraid of presenting to a large amount of people, whether it is just my group or an entire company. If anything, seeing and having an audience boosts my confidence in successfully spreading a message to said audience. I have confidence that as a speaker I can successfully relay information between myself and others.

LEADERSHIP

I can be very energetic, and I love when others around me share the same energy. I am always enthusiastic entering new situations, so if others aren't, I am always ready to help them move on to the next stage. I am comfortable being in either a follower or leader role, but being a leader is where I thrive the most.
